Foreign Direct Investment and Multinational Enterprises

The choices between exporting, foreign licensing of technology and direct investment abroad are examined in Part II. The foreign market servicing decisions are examined both at the level of the firm and in aggregate at the level of an economy (the UK). The impact of these decisions on competitiveness is evaluated and the role of international joint ventures is examined for the case of the UK

The emergence of Multinational Enterprise and Foreign

Foreign direct investment (FDI) is defined as a long term investment by a foreign direct investor (Aitken, 1999)[17]. The investment involves the participation of two different countries, one being the host country, the other the investor. According to the United Nations Classification, the FDI relationship consists of a parent enterprise and a foreign affiliate which together form a
